

5 A SPACIOUS FEEL

The biggest trend for 2007 shower rooms is 'space is luxury' and anything that contributes to the illusion of space will be an investment.

'Gone are the days of the square enclosure. Everyone has their own personal view about what makes the perfect showering zone but, generally, most of us want ample space, thermostatically-controlled water temperature, different types of spray, such as overhead drench, rain showers and body massage jets – to do this you need space.'

No more quick dips – the latest shower rooms are a multi-sensual and, above all, indulgent experience

Install a glass ceiling and it will seem like you're showering outdoors.
